GROVE CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Grove City, Pennsylvania

VOLUME XX

GENERAL DOUGLAS MacARTHUR praises GROVE CITY

“Grateful to Grove City for its fine patriotism.”
Signed, “MacArthur.”

This was the cablegram received from Australia by Harold Clarkson, Grove City U.S.O. chairman, on Saturday, September 26. It was in response to a message sent to General MacArthur by the scrap salvage committee, which said: “As a tribute to you and your men yesterday—MacArthur Day—Grove City exceeded scrap quota 500 percent.”

A huge pile of metal and rubber was collected as the Hi-Y and Boy Scouts went from door to door in trucks.

Dean Schedler, in Bataan, wrote—“With heads bloody, but unbowed, they have yielded to superior force. - - - The world will long remember the epic struggle they put up - - - they have borne all that human endurance could bear - - - .

“But what sustained was a force more than physical - - - it was the thought of their native land, all it holds that is most dear to them, the thought of freedom and dignity, and pride in these most priceless of all human prerogatives.”

This spirit is a challenge for us to meet.

WE HONOR

OUR GROVE CITY BOYS

In the Services of the Armed Forces of U. S.

More than five hundred Grove City High School alumni are in the armed forces of the United States. These boys, and the boys who left high school to fight for victory, are now scattered on the many battlefronts of this war. Some have already given their lives. Others are still in training.

They have walked through the familiar old halls, in and out of the classrooms before us and with us. Some of them may not return, but they are preserving for us the right to attend a democratic school in a democratic nation.

To all of these boys in the service of the United States, the 1943 Pine Knot is dedicated.

THE SPIRIT OF OUR ARMY

Scrap drives — gas rationing — meatless meals — sugar rationing — no candy — 35 mile speed limit — buy more bonds and stamps — give bonds for Christmas this year — walk to school — study harder than ever — these all have a familiar sound, NOW.

This year of school has been our first full year of war. War has changed Grove City High School as it has changed schools all over the world. The same classes were taught, but teachers reorganized them to fit a country at war. Boys practiced marching in gym classes, girls learned first aid, a class in aviation was taught. Clubs changed their programs to fit the war effort.

Despite the war, school continued much the same. Freshmen were initiated to school socials by the annual fall carnival. The Grover Star came out as usual. Cars traveled to and from the football games since gas rationing didn't start until the first of December. The football team remained undefeated, and the Homecoming game was reigned over by the queen and her attendants.

The lower and upper gyms were still the scenes of many sweater hops and special holiday dances, although not so elaborately decorated. Guys and gals cut the rug to snappy new war songs like "Praise the Lord, and Pass the Ammunition," and got a bit romantic when they heard the soft strains of good old "Johnny Nickelodian" playing "White Christmas" and "When the Lights Go On Again."

Through the cold, snowy days, everyone crawled out of nice warm beds, and started to school before it was light, wondering what good "war time" was. Finally, when the spring sun came out again, some minds may have remained entirely on international events, but cupid started offensives on many fronts.

After much cramming and wishful thinking, seniors prepared for graduation, sophomores and juniors assumed the dignity of upperclassmen, and freshmen began to think of summer vacation and initiating next year's "greenies."

One more year of high school life has been woven, and this year the American Eagle is at the top.

LOYALTY and DEVOTION TO DUTY

I, a student of Grove City High School, pledge my loyalty and devotion to my flag. I will prepare myself to take my place, after finishing my education, either in helping to win the war or in planning for a peaceful and democratic world afterwards.

I pledge myself against what Germany, Italy, and Japan are fighting for, and promise to stand by my convictions despite what anyone else may say.

I promise to obey my commanders, whether they be my parents or my teachers.

I must help to avenge the death of my friends, classmates, my countrymen and my allies by doing all that I can in the war effort. I promise to buy all the war bonds and stamps that I can.

Finally, I promise, with God's help, that the United States of America will always be "one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all".

IN THE PACK

COMMAND

In command, planning ahead and working for the students, are Doctor Traister, Mr. Crowther, the board of education, and all the teachers.

Without them, Grove City High School could never have assumed the importance in this district which it now maintains. They are doing their best to insure our future.

TASK FORCE

All high schools are divided into four task forces, or classes—the freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. Each force has its own class spirit and its own ideas, as they grow older each year.

FORMATIONS

The Formations section is devoted to pictures of the clubs and musical groups of Grove City High School. Each group adds something to school life, not only by breaking the monotony, but in serving the school in some way.

Band plays for chapel and for games, Science club plans movies, the Hi-Y's and Tri-Hi's give the school moral support - and so each one fulfills its purpose.

RECONNAISSANCE

This section is Camp G. C. H. S. as its soldiers may remember it in lighter moments. This is Camp G. C. H. S. without formalities, without the salutes, the military carriage, and the attention to duty. In this part of military life officer and rookie have no difference in rank — but laugh together, make fun of each other and remember each in friendship.

SQUADRONS

Four squadrons work for Grove City High School — the football, basketball, wrestling and track teams. Although some have achieved more fame than others, all are supported by the students, and have worked until Grove City has become an important little town on the map of sports.

COMMAND

First in command is General H. W. Traister, head officer at Camp G.C.H.S. His private office is closely guarded by his able assistant, Phame Atwell.

The first Monday night of each month, General Traister meets with the Council of War, the Board of Education, and discusses the problems confronting such a large camp.

More familiar to the students is Major G. H. Crowther, principal of the school. Many face him after a long period of A.W.O.L., but he never resorts to K.P. His methods are based on appeals to good sportsmanship, truth, self-respect and self-control. Despite his many hours of work each day in keeping the camp humming along with activities, he always finds time to discuss problems or to tell a little story to any camp member, regardless of his rank.

Last, but largest in number, is the group of brainy lieutenants trying desperately and sometimes hopelessly to train a bunch of rookies. Worse than bullets are sometimes fired by these commanders as six-week periods roll around. However, they refrain from using military tactics unreasonably.

They have all battled their way through many college and university camps, and have learned the military secrets explaining how to pass on their knowledge.

SEATED around the war table, these handsome military leaders represent Doctor Traister, Mr. Crowther, and the Board of Education.

THE BARRACKS

Thirty years ago, in 1913, plans for Grove City High School had been completed, and bond issues made for $75,000. In September, 1914, the doors of the school were opened to its first students, the pioneers of G. C. H. S. Only what is now the front end of the school was completed, back to the east-west corridor.

Mr. Crowther's office then served as superintendent's office as well as for a small library. The auditorium was located where rooms 11, 12, and 13 now are, and, to get to the old balcony, one went up the steps to where the attendance office now is, turned to the right, and went into what is now closed for a large closet to keep senior caps and gowns.

Several years later, the shell for the rear end of the building was constructed, and the auditorium built. Above the auditorium was an open space to the roof. Still later, the third and last part of the building was finished. The library and what is now the band room was all built for a library. Rooms 22, 23, 24, 25, and 26 were built in, and finally Grove City High School was as it is pictured above.

TASK FORCE

The task force, or classes, can be divided with all respect (?) according to their rank: freshmen, buck privates; sophomores, second class privates; juniors, corporals; and seniors, sergeants. After graduation, nothing can be guaranteed.

Freshmen should probably not remain buck privates for a whole year, especially now. Quick training has been important, and they seemed to "catch on fast". With all their zeal for a new camp life, those rookies jumped into everything—classes, clubs, sports, music, and in some things, they showed up the cocky corporals and sergeants.

Sophomores, the second class privates, were more experienced during their second year, and took everything a little more calmly, being quite well adapted to their life.

The juniors, seasoned corporals, earned their way into prominent places in the camp. Quite sure of themselves, they helped to direct clubs, sponsor dances, and organize committees and officers to buy their class rings, and to plan for the annual prom.

Seniors, full-fledged sergeants, the oldest class, and a bit cocky, in their three previous years have made themselves almost indispensable. Sergeants can't give orders to the lieutenants, captains, majors or generals, but have much influence, especially on the underdogs.

This year, with all the extra war work, the classes have met the requirements of a good task force.

YOU'RE the men who make us a success or failure. You are Grove City High School—freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors.

FORMATIONS

Clubs make life at Camp G.C.H.S. more interesting. The different types of clubs study and plan their own programs and parties according to their individual interests. This year they have helped in the war effort by buying war bonds, helping to gather scrap, planning programs which keep up with war news and ideas, cutting down on party expenses, and preparing fellows and girls to take their places as good citizens. Some members learn to be leaders, and all learn to work together.

All of the clubs, most of which meet once each week, try to be of some service to the school or community. Student council is probably the best example, its purpose being to help Mr. Crowther and students to solve the problems which confront them in school, and to better school life.

BUILT up for a purpose, starting out with a job, but having lots of fun and bumps in the process—the Formations.

JUNIOR TRI-HI-Y

JUNIOR TRI-HI-Y Here we find the source of our underclass talent. This club of girls has always distinguished itself in our school and although the members are freshmen and sophomores they have competed with any and every club in our school. They stand up for their rights and do what they think is right in the proper manner. Members of the club are often seen hustling about the school, making plans for a party or conferring with some teacher on some club project. If the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y puts its shoulder against the wheel, things usually happen.

Again this year the girls sold gum and candy during the noon hour in the lower hall. Sweet tooth after sweet tooth was satisfied by these tasty morsels of chocolate. The teachers were also kept busy marching the gum chewers to the wastepaper basket. As might well be expected, the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y was ready and waiting to take part in the carnival and pitched right in and had a lot of fun and also did well on the financial end of it.

FOURTH ROW—Lee Kelly, Rose Gilmore, Virginia Lumley, Louise Gearhart, Betty Hassell, Bernice Mathieson, Jean Smith, Miss Cookson, Peggy Dye, Marjorie Jordan, Frances Sopher, Cleo Carson, Alice Babcock, Anne Augustine, Shirley Thomas, Patricia Sproull.

TRI-HI-Y Can this be true—all this beauty monopolized by one club? If so, is it fair that such a monopoly should be permitted to survive within our school? Almost everybody says, "Yes," even Professor Crowther.

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y is made up of a group of junior and senior girls who have made a very enviable name for themselves during the past year. Entering into the air of cooperation which seems to be present in our school this year, the girls have sponsored chapel programs, put on skits, and taken part in the carnivals. One of their best performances was the chapel program in which they presented one of our everyday problems, an air raid.

Besides these duties, the Tri-Hi-Y also has well planned meetings with programs which are not only a lot of fun but also very useful to the girls. Like the fellows of the Hi-Y, the girls also enjoy joint meetings of the two clubs and on several occasions have treated the fellows. During the Christmas season the members of the club went caroling with the Hi-Y. This caroling idea is very popular and is looked forward to a great deal by both organizations. You have held up the Tri-Hi-Y standards, girls—Congratulations!

JUNIOR HI-Y AND

JUNIOR HI-Y

The Jr. Hi-Y is an organization consisting of boys from the freshman and sophomore classes. This club is a fine influence on the boys entering our school for their first year and also teaches them the problems of maintaining a club such as the Jr. Hi-Y. Committee work and carrying on meetings are fine training for the members and are always useful to the boys when they join the Sr. Hi-Y or one of the other clubs for upperclassmen.

The Jr. Hi-Y is conducted much the same as the Sr. Hi-Y, for both have the same purpose; "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character." The members helped this year with the clean-up day and shared in the profit of this project with the boys of the Sr. Hi-Y. Other than this the members raised money by selling candy at the basketball games and have always entered whole-heartedly in the carnivals. Chapel programs are still another project and again the Jr. Hi-Y has distinguished itself.

This year marks the end of Mr. Fithian's second year as sponsor of the club. He gets along fine with the boys and is very well liked by every one of them.

SENIOR HI-Y

A group of truly "good fellows," that's the Sr. Hi-Y. These boys gather every Monday night at the high school and not only have a good time, but really have a meeting that is a credit to their club, officers, and sponsor, Mr. Smith.

Forgiving the fellow who took your girl out last night and forgetting the hot contest with the fellow sitting next, for that forward position, the boys have friendly discussion on different subjects such as the eighteen-year-old draft bill, Parliamentary Law, and many other of our every-day problems. Besides discussions, the program committee always has some sort of enjoyable entertainment. Quiz programs, basketball games, and joint meetings with the Sr. Tri-Hi-Y (this latter seems very popular) hold the boys' interests and they all enjoy coming to the meetings. Besides the annual clean-up day which is held in the spring, the boys this year gathered scrap metal for the town's scrap drive campaign. They not only collected the required amount but went 'way above the quota set.

Year after year the Hi-Y has been a fine influence on the boys of our school. May this year's Hi-Y be a mark for the underclassmen to set for themselves when they move into the place of those boys who are in the club this year.

SCIENCE CLUB AND

SCIENCE CLUB

Today we see around us the ever growing need of science, not only because we are at war but because every phase of our life seems to hinge around the teachings of the sciences. In our school we have had for the past several years an organization that has been cultivating our scientific interests. This organization is the Science Club.

If you are one of the many students of Grove City High school who look upon physics lab or chemistry class as fifty minutes of absolute torture, you are the person whom the Science Club would help a great deal. The fellows and girls of this club come to enjoy the mysteries of the physical and chemical world and instead of cringing from the physic lab and chemistry class, they look forward to it.

The Science Club is composed of boys and girls from all four classes who have acquired good enough grades to enter the club. There are about thirty-five to forty members under the able sponsorship of Mr. Surrena.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Patterning after our national government, we too have our own little democracy to lead our school. At the head of this democracy is the Student Council which has been, for the past several years, our legislative body. With Professor Crowther as advisor the council acts as an intermediary between the student body and the faculty.

The Student Council is composed of students from the four classes, five seniors, four juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman. They are chosen by the student body and remain on the council from the year they are elected until they graduate.

The Council is probably the most active body in the school. A meeting is never held that the members do not have to hurry to finish all the business in that fifty minutes during the fourth period on Wednesday when the council meets. This organization's outstanding accomplishment is a Carnival which they sponsor every year. It is held for the purpose of bringing everyone in the school together and getting acquainted. It also furnishes everyone with a good time. There are booths where one can throw darts and baseballs, pitch pennies, and get dates. Besides these various ways of having a good time, you can also enjoy a movie or dance. In school, during sessions, the Student Council has its members on hall duty and appoints home room representatives to help them.

FRESHMAN CHORUS

FRESHMAN CHORUS

Perhaps many have wondered if, when you entered the Boys' Chorus or the Girls' Chorus, you started up from that point to learn to sing and to read music until the leader of either group thought that you had acquired enough ability to start to sing and rehearse on contest or project numbers. This is not true, however, for there is a choral organization of which one is a member before he enters the Boys' or Girls' Chorus.

It has been the job of Mr. Marshall to train the members of this Freshman Chorus to become so accustomed to singing with others and reading chorus music that they will have little trouble when they graduate to the "big" choruses. Members of this chorus, both boys and girls, meet every day in Mr. Marshall's band room and rehearse many different selections. These numbers are usually not too difficult and are used to acquaint the members to sing with each other and to get accustomed to listening to the different sections of the chorus. These rehearsals have proved to be of exceptional worth to each one of this Freshman Chorus, for many of them have moved up into the Boys' Chorus and the Girls' Chorus. Some of the best go as far as the Ensemble and Boys' Quartet.

SECOND ROW — Mary Jo Schlicht, Norma Reed, Lo's McCarl, Patricia Lawrence, Lois Fowler, Myrna McCamey, Violet McCullan.

FOURTH ROW—Bill Hassler, Norma Williamson, Frank Murphy, Bill Nix, William Hulbert, Betty Fehring, Carl Braham.

BOYS' CHORUS

Although the Boys' Chorus has decreased in number this year, they still have the spirit to sing and really "raise the roof." Not only do the members of the chorus have the ability to display unexpected volume for the size of their organization but can, when Mr. Marshall wishes, sing very softly and very delightfully. All the boys really look forward to that fourth period in the morning when they go to the band room and have their daily rehearsals. Besides teaching the boys to sing correctly, Mr. Marshall also helps them to relax and enjoy themselves while they work. Some of the songs that seem to be favorites of the boys are "Grandfather's Clock," "Sally Brown," and "Melodie."

Again this year the boys rehearsed with the Girls' Chorus for about four weeks before the Christmas season to prepare for the presentation of a concert which these two choral groups gave to a large crowd on December 20. This mixed chorus sang eight selections and each had to be memorized. The boys can well be proud of their part in this program.

GIRLS' ENSEMBLE

GIRLS' ENSEMBLE

Pride of the school and winner of practically every musical honor that they are eligible for, the Girls' Ensemble has again topped them all. This group of twelve girls has put everything they have into their work and, under the direction of Miss Selkirk Burgess, has reached a peak of almost perfection. Every year Miss Burgess chooses a group of girls who can not only sing but who will take a real interest in the ensemble work and perhaps sacrifice much of their time for rehearsals after school.

Although they did not have the county, district, and state contests to look forward to this year, the girls worked all the harder on their parts in different programs which they put on or took part in during the year. Among these many performances was the Christmas concert in which the ensemble all but stole the show.

The members of the Girls' Ensemble are all members of the Girls' Chorus and are chosen by the kind of work they do in this organization. The quality of their voice has a great deal to do with their obtaining membership in this organization, for Miss Burgess insists that the voices blend perfectly together.

The vacancies left by graduation last year have been filled by very capable musicians and the ensemble this year is as good as ever.

LITERARY CLUB

As one would imagine from the title, the Literary Club has to do with such things as books, plays, and letters. The club is a mixed group, and secures members from all four classes.

The Literary Club seems to always be at the top of school activities, sponsoring some of the outstanding entertainments and socials. For their own activities and enjoyment, the members usually have book reports and discussions on new books, studying to find faults and good points of interest and reading. During one of our home room periods the members of the club gave book reports on some of the latest books to the home rooms. This not only was interesting but it helped to create an interest in the library, which should be used more by every one in the school. Another of the Literary Club's divisions is to have a very moderate but very enjoyable party instead of the regular formal meeting.

One of the greatest problems of this organization is to procure a leader. This year Miss Anna Belle Hamilton has led the Literary Club and is very well liked by all the members.

ORCHESTRA AND

ORCHESTRA

This year the orchestra has been called on to make up in quality what they have lost in quantity. This situation has been brought on by the lack of musicians who are able to take orchestra as one of their activities. These few, however, have put their heart and soul into the work and have had little trouble getting that quality. Miss Burgess, who directs the orchestra, has worked faithfully with this small but very cooperative group and, although their performances are few and far between, has turned out some fine work.

One can remember last year when we had two chapels a week, the band played at one and the orchestra at the other. But this year the new arrangement of periods has cut our program to one assembly a week. This has meant that the orchestra was cut out of one of its duties. But then, there was the operetta which was given this year. This is always one place where the orchestra really makes you take notice.

Yet the members of our orchestra kept on rehearsing and worked just as hard as they would if they were performing every day. When the time came for them to take part in any program, such as the Senior Play, they always gave a really fine performance.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Some clubs have talent; some clubs have outstanding leaders and officers, but the Athletic Council is one club that has everything. When this crowd of girls goes out on the gym floor, you wouldn't know but what they were a group of boys. They really show what kind of "softies" they are. But one shouldn't get the idea that just because the girls play basketball and volley ball that they are a lot of muscle bound Tarzans. In fact you probably would be very much surprised to find that most of them are slim and pretty as pictures.

The girls are a group that not only takes a special interest in athletics, but they also stand out in the social functions of our school. During the past year it was the Athletic Council that took the lead and put real effort into anything that they entered. Although the war forced the Council to keep expenses down and government orders stopped any extensive decorating, the club sponsored a Christmas dance and, with all the disadvantages, they made a success of it. The Athletic Council helped with the Homecoming day and it was mostly through their efforts that the event was made the success that it was. Under the leadership of Miss Cleeton, this organization has proved that it is "tops."

OPERETTA AND

OPERETTA "Rose of the Danube" was the title of the Operetta which was given this year by the music department of the school. The Orchestra, Girls' Chorus, and Boys' Chorus took part in the production this year under the direction of Miss Selkirk Burgess, Mr. Stoops, and Mr. Marshall.

The story, "Rose of the Danube," takes place in the little kingdom of Eurolania on the banks of the beautiful blue Danube. But the kingdom is feeling more blue than beautiful since the royal treasury is exhausted and so is the patience of the standing army which hasn't been paid for so long it is likely to sit down any minute. Count Serguus is plotting to start a revolution with the aid of Emetrius Doodledorf and Trombonus Tottleop.

For a while, however, the populace is distracted by the Rose Festivals. Among the visitors is Darrel Davis, a Hollywood photographer, and Percival McPhipp.

McPhipp offers to pay King Montmerency a million dollars for the use of his kingdom and subjects to make a movie, which is to include a revolution. Everybody is delighted, but none more than Von Popova, who plans to change the mock revolution into a real one.

Amid lots of excitement the kingdom is finally saved. Darrel is awarded the hand of the King's daughter, Rose, while Karl gains a similar prize in the person of Pamela McPhipp.

SENIOR PLAY "Quality Street", this year's Senior Play, was another four-star production. Miss Jamison and Miss McCoy have again produced a play that has challenged some of our best.

The play, "Quality Street," takes place between 1805 and 1815, the period of the Napoleonic Wars, in a little English village near London. On Quality Street in this quaint English village live the spinster sisters, Mary and Fanny Willoughby and Henrietta Turnbull. Across the street and under their watchful eyes live the Throssel sisters, the heroine, Phoebe of the Ringlets, and her older sister Susan.

With this as a setting, events of the play move along rapidly, especially after the appearance of Valentine Brown, a physician much esteemed by the ladies of the town. At first Brown's relationship with Phoebe and her sister is merely friendly. He helps them in a financial transaction and in other similar cases.

While he is at the Napoleonic Wars, Phoebe and her sister add to their troubles by keeping a school for the children of the village. Phoebe ages with her many cares. Ten years later Valentine Brown returns from the army and although Phoebe has loved Brown from the very first, he doesn't betray his love for her until the very end of the play. They are married and live happily ever after.

BAND AND

BAND It's Monday morning! You're sitting in history class without your history lesson. You are feeling very, very low. All at once something hits you and you are on your feet reciting everything, and causing your history teacher to look up in amazement. Well! What could it have been that would cause such an awakening? Sure enough, it's the Grove City High school band, playing one of its peppy marches.

We should all appreciate this group of our best musicians who play every Tuesday at chapel and are always willing to give their services whenever they are asked. Rehearsals have been made less frequent by the new period arrangement and the band has been cut out of much of its time. Even with this disadvantage it has done remarkably well in preparing for its many performances.

During the football season it is always the band which adds that extra color and glamor that sets off the big game. Besides its regular work, the band had to prepare for its part in the Christmas program and again it performed with flying colors. Many of us take for granted the enjoyment the band furnishes us. We forget the preparation it takes even for our chapel. The members of Grove City High school band have finished a job, well done.

CLARINETS—Keith Millsop, Betty Patterson, George Parker, Tom Place, John Jones, Polly Spears, Betty McCoy, Jean Snyder, Clyde Wimer, Alice Babcock, Ralph Magee, Sally Craft, Mary Brocken, Seaton Shelley, Dorothy Fitzgerald, Edwin Conner. CORNET AND TRUMPET—Robert Sterrett, Wendell Miller, David Workmen, Victor Bango, Pete D'Arcangelo, David Kearney, Benedict Brown, Wayne Knisely, Frank Murphy, Robert Hassler, Marsden McBride, Norman Crill. FRENCH HORNS—Carl Barber, Tom Judy, Robert Shelley, Marellyn Fair, Harold Campbell. ALTO CLARINETS—Phyllis Sturgeon, Ruth Taylor. ALTO HORNS—Don McAninch, Robert Sopher. BARITONE—James Kelly. TROMBONES—Merle Johnson, Carmen Marguglio, Merle D'Aracangelo, Dick Walters, Nancy Sutton, Don Hayes. BASSES—Bill Campbell, Eton Carke, Donald Miles, John Huskin, Cleo Carson, Harold Eak'n. CELLO—Joanne Coulter. DRUMS—Bill Hulbert, Robert Weber, Dick McWilliams. FLUTE—Jane Foster. MAJORETTES—Virginia Harvey, Frances Sopher, Marjorie Millsop, Betty Hassel, Agnes Miller, COLOR GUARD—Don Hummel, Franklin Faivre, Jack Hawke.

GIRLS' CHORUS Fred Waring has his Pennsylvanians, Mr. Forker has his locker room quartet, the Ink Spots have the Ink Spots, and Grove City High school has the Girls' Chorus.

This group of Blue Birds is responsible for many of our music haters turning to pronounced music lovers. Every morning the girls go down to chorus after the third period, where, after a short gossip session, they line up in three rows and fill the auditorium with all kinds of pretty lullabys and hymns. The girls really put their hearts into the work and with the help of their leader, Mrs. Stoops, they leave no stone unturned in doing their best. The girls not only work hard to do things right but they enjoy themselves too. This group not only sings well but it is also one of our best appearing groups and when the girls all don their white uniforms and give forth with their fifty dollar smiles, they are a mighty pretty picture.

It is a well established fact that when the Girls' Chorus has a part in any entertainment, its part in the program always stands out. It was no exception this year in the Christmas program put on by the choral group of the school. When the girls took the stage for their turn, they really were outstanding.

SENIOR STAR STAFF

GROVER STAR STAFF

Again this year the Grover Star has kept up its steady climb until now the subscription records show an increase of 300% since the first year the paper was published. What more proof can there be that the Star is becoming better every year? This year's staff has been very efficient, and has more than satisfied the advisor, E. B. Elder. Mr. Elder is to be congratulated on his training of these young journalists of which several belong to the Quill and Scroll, an international organization for high school journalists.

The Grover Star Staff can look with pride at the huge sale of War Stamps and Bonds at Grove City High School, for it was largely through its effort, with the help of the Student Council, that the sale was started. The drive was held during the week of February 8 to 12, and $16,084.90 worth of stamps and bonds were sold.

On the shoulders of Charles Meyers rests the responsibility of the Editor-in-Chief. The arrangement of the paper and such duties keep Charles busy and calls for a great deal of work, but he is well suited for that. The Managing Editor is Ruth Kaufman who assigns the stories to the staff members to write for the next edition of the Star. Next in line is Fannie DeCarlo. Fannie is the Star's City Editor. She checks on certain duties to make sure they are carried out. George McClymonds and Bill Allen cover the sports events of the school and keep the students posted on all sport news. With eyes, ears, and nose watching for, listening for, and smelling out all kinds of gossip and dirt, Sally Magee and Edna Spence make two perfect Society Editors.

The Column editors are Roberta McNeish and Betty Easter who write different columns which appear in each issue of the paper. To Julia Gregory goes the task of copy reading, for that is her outstanding duty as Head Copy Reader. You have likely either given a loud howl or a soft chuckle to some of the jokes or poems obtained from other schools by Harmer Evens, the Exchange Editor of the Star. Madeleine Coulter is the Club Editor. She writes articles on the club activities. Madeleine should also be commended for the file she composed of all the late graduates of the high school who have gone to some branch of the service. In this file are the names and locations of each of our boys in camp. Features are handled by June Weigle who writes such articles as "Origin of Valentine Day" and similar stories which add so much to the Star. Next comes the Art Editors, Edwin Conner and Charles Ferrere, who are responsible for all the cartoons and pictures that are a part of our school paper. Photography is important to the Star, but it has been cut by the war. Ted Chambers handles the photographing assignments.

PINE KNOT STAFF

To edit a better Pine Knot has been the ambition of the past and will probably be the ambition of every staff for many years to come. From this great source of ambition, this year's Pine Knot Staff has bitten off their share and have worked like little beavers to give each of the students in Grove City High School the best Pine Knot they have had. Whether we have done this is up to each one of you students. Meet the authors of the 1943 Pine Knot.

To be sure, we first want you to meet our pride and joy, our Editor-in-Chief, Roberta McNeish. Roberta has been on the Pine Knot Staff two years and is doing a magnificent job as Editor. She is a great worker and inspires the rest of the staff to work hard by her own example and is always ready and waiting to lend a helping hand to someone in a troubling situation. One of "Bertie's" greatest jobs is to do practically all the worrying. This, along with the rest of her work, makes hers the hardest task, but she has certainly showed us how it can be done.

Next, we would like to introduce you to our business manager, Jane Foster. Jane, with her two helpful assistants, Robert Shelley and Chuck Drennen, form the big business department of Pine Knot Staff. Priceless are "Bea" Mayes, Class Editor, and her helper, Shirley Williams. Their outstanding duty is to identify class pictures which at times becomes very discouraging, but they never give up and one can be sure that this pair of hard workers will come through.

Then there are those "glorious" seniors. The job of gathering and arranging all the data for these seniors has been shouldered this year by Nancy McKay, our Senior Editor. Nancy is enjoying her first year on the staff and has a very bright future.

Another of the important assignments is the feature section of the Pine Knot. This year Betty Easter and her assistant, Jane Thompson, have handled the features. This is a tough job and requires a great deal of originality. Betty is a senior and has worked hard to make her last year on the staff a real success. Jane is a junior and a newcomer to our happy little family and she can be sure of big things next year.

Bob Young and Carmen Marguglio are the Pine Knot photographers. These fellows use up yards and yards of film during the year on snap shots and basketball and football pictures. They like their work and their interest in photography helps a great deal. Sports have been handled by Bill Allen and his assistant, Dave Porter.

Writing up data on the football, basketball, track, and wrestling teams is their job.

Another section of the Pine Knot is the part devoted to the clubs of the school, their pictures and write-ups. George Harry was the Club Editor this year and handled this section of the book. All these members at times have to be sort of shoved a little and corrected. Mr. Elder, our advisor, has had this job and it has kept him busy. Along with this he does a great deal of the work on the book, so he is really our outstanding member.

We have tried hard to give you a super Pine Knot and we hope each one of you finds it as you would want it.

RECONNAISSANCE

These are the features. This part of your 1943 Pine Knot involves no regular military campaign; it was written for the fun of it and we hope you read it with that idea in mind.

It consists of "Superlatives"—chance ideas that may stick with you when names have long slipped your memories. "Oh yes," you'll recall, "I remember Such-and-So. He was the red-head who played the piano; and Blank Blank, who had such a deep voice, and Whosit, who—," and so forth.

And there are the personality sketches to bring back vivid memories of people you knew. It's not vital information, maybe, that somebody likes ice cream—it's just a part of what you're leaving and what you knew best.

The affairs of Johnny and the collapse of his adventurous dream are likewise only for fun. (Incidentally, any resemblance between Johnny and his acquaintances to persons alive and kicking is the strangest coincidence and absolutely accidental).

Reconnaissance has to do with learning and figuring things out before the plan of action is carried into effect. In this case, however, the learning and figuring out come afterwards—this reconnaissance division is for memory rather than forethought. It is for trivialities rather than important facts. It is for nothing in particular rather than a specific purpose.

"This is in memory; this is in remembrance."

A FEW moments stolen from the rest of time just for your fun. Wander through it with a light heart and a chuckle.

CAMP G. C. H. S.

When Johnny graduated from the eighth grade, he was determined to become a daring Commando. He had visions of slinking through the jungle, picking off Japs by the dozen with the aid of his trusty pistol, and later receiving the Distinguished Service Medal at the White House while the news-cameras recorded his modest grin.

Finally his number came up, and one sunny day in September he reported for duty at Camp G. C. H. S., full of great ambitions. Properly equipped with comic book, pea shooter, and report card, he surrendered the latter to a gold-and-white uniformed guard at the front gate, and entered what was to be his home for the next four years. He was greeted by a very pretty girl, attractively dressed in the regulation red sweater and plaid skirt of the new GAAC organization. Giving the official wink, which is used only by soldiers of the H. S. Army, she smiled and said, "Follow me."

"Sure!" said Johnny. "Anywhere!"

She led him down a short corridor to the office of Colonel Crow and left him at the door with another salute. The colonel, a fine, erect gentleman, invited Johnny to sit down and appeared to forget the salute that Johnny forgot to give him. "Well, Johnny," he began, in a friendly way, "What do you want to do?"

Johnny answered promptly and proudly, "I want to be a Commando!" "Are you sure?" the colonel asked with a smile. "Well, pretty sure," Johnny replied, stoutly.

"Suppose you make sure," the colonel suggested. "I have a free half hour right now and we might use it in a tour of the camp. How about it?" Johnny agreed eagerly, for although he was certain that nothing could shake his resolve, he was anxious to see his new quarters.

As he and the colonel went down one of the long corridors to the Commando training ground, Johnny noted with pride his reflection in a row of lockers - - - the reflection of a sturdy, stocky boy in the established uniform of a H. S. soldier with baggy corduroy trousers and dingy gold sweater.

The training ground was in the center of the camp, scarcely a minute's walk from the office. Just as Johnny and Colonel Crow were about to turn in at its entrance, they were met by a stretcher, born by two sad-faced men in white. One of them looked up, and nodded to the colonel. "Busted back, but he'll be O.K.," he said cheerfully. While Johnny's enthusiasm did not waver, he felt a curious chill on his spine. The grounds themselves were a scene of violent activity. At one end of the floor, boys were climbing slippery ropes like monkeys; at another end, other boys were turning complicated somersaults from a springboard; and in the middle stood Sergeant Smil, streaming with perspiration.

"That isn't all, of course," said Colonel Crow, in answer to Johnny's unspoken question, "There's the engineering division, if you happen to be interested in mechanics."

"Oh sure!" cried Johnny, "I've always been interested in that."

A mighty whiz and roar of machinery issued from the door before Johnny and the colonel now found themselves. Remembering his manners, Johnny politely opened it to allow the colonel to pass in first; but a sudden, sharp yell startled him so much that he nearly let it slam behind him.

An overalled worker at the far end of the room waved a hammer in one hand, and held the other in the air. "Are you hurt?" asked Johnny anxiously. "Nope," said the boy indifferently. "Just missed the nail again." Johnny took a look around him - - - at the buzzing saws, the whirling wheels, and the gigantic press. He suddenly felt an overwhelming curiosity about other branches of service.

"Say," he said thoughtfully, "Don't you have a Secret Service or something? I always wanted to be a G-man."

"We have our intelligence Division," said the colonel, drily "and a little Intelligence might not hurt you, ha, ha!"

The Intelligence headquarters were on the last floor, and in charge of them was a coppery-haired lady, who smiled politely at Johnny and indicated two seats for him and the colonel.

"Johnny," said the colonel, "This is Sergeant Mac of the H. S. Army Intelligence. She can help you in something that every Intelligence officer should know - - - a language other than his own. Here you can learn French, the language of spies."

Before Johnny could answer, a defening roar shook the camp from top to bottom. Sergeant shrugged. "The lab again" she said carelessly. Johnny felt relieved that he had never shown an aptitude for chemistry. Of course, he had been able to handle fire crackers well enough.

Then, through the open door he caught a glimpse of a fluttering skirt and an idea occurred to him. "Are there girls in the Secret Service?" Sergeant Mac looked puzzled, but the colonel had seen the skirt. "Of course, but most of them are taking regular army training of stenography, science, languages and home-making."

"There are boys in stenographic work too," said Sergeant Mac, "Remember Privates Ham and Iron."

"Darn," puzzled Johnny, "I want to be a Commando, and a spy, and engineer, and a - - - a stenographer."

"Well," said Colonel Crow, "you can do what other boys are doing. Just take a regular training course and be ready for anything." Seeing Johnny's eyes wander toward the door, he added, "Now you can report to room 2 for further orders."

"Yessir," said Johnny, "Can I win a medal that way?"

"You can win a medal in any sort of work in the H. S. Army," smiled the colonel, "The Army A is the highest award we give. Now my half hour is up, so you may go - - - and good luck."

"Think you sir," said Johnny, saluting smartly. And as he walked down the corridors, he saw himself in his imagination with Colonel Crow pinning "A's" on his gold sweater while the P. K. camera-man recorded his modest grin.

"Sob! Sob! The senior class is gone! And they were so young and innocent - - - well, so young, anyway. Now they're gone and there's nothing but this measly scrap of paper - - -".

Last Will and Testament

We, the Senior Class of Grove City High School, being aware that the end is coming (we hope) and that we must someday enroll in the School of Experience, do hereby ordain and establish the following policies to be observed in connection with our final wishes.

First, we set down the stipulation that our deeds be forgotten as soon as possible and that the funds from the class treasury be used for nevé tonic for the faculty. To the Juniors we leave our shining record as an example of community service, school spirit, and nuisance value.

To the Sophomores, our solomn advice to be kind to animals and Freshmen; and to the freshies, we leave our bounding self-confidence and our pride in us.

Also, Madeleine Coulter leaves her perfect clothes to Norma Allen.

Virginia Fitzgerald leaves her dependability to Nancy Breckenridge.

Red Mathieson leaves his red head (brains included) to Red Gibson.

Ed Fithian leaves his rich baritone voice to Keith Millsop.

Marilyn Baker leaves her big, beautiful, brown eyes to Bea Mayes.

Norma Williams leaves her flashing career to her up-and-coming younger sisters, Shirley and Willa.

Jean Snyder leaves her A-plus personality to Jane Foster.

Ruth Kaufman leaves her bubbling spirit to Dally Ryall.

Frannie and Si leave their lovely love affair to Janie and George.

Betty McCoy leaves her well-filled date book to Marion Winger.

John Brosky leaves the Science club to the tender mercies of Don Jennings.

Guy and Sammy leave our precious pigskin to Dennie and Big Bill.

Sally Magee leaves her snappy come-backs to Carol Rusch.

Charlene Hovis leaves her ever friendly "Hi!" to Peggy Rossman.

Rhoda leaves to Rachel the amazing Hartwick scholarship.

Betty Fisher and Don Hummel leave their loves to the Junior class.

Ruth McCauslin leaves her perfect posture to Donniss Coutts.

Bill Allen leaves his way with women to Carmen Marguglio.

Harold Campbell leaves his musical ability to his "widdle brudder" Billy.

Roberta leaves her lilting soprano voice to Lee Kelley.

Judy Gregory leaves her skill at sports to Doris Uber.

Chuck Thompson leaves his great dramatic ability to Bob Shelley.

The kids from Wesley will leave a lot of friends.

And the Senior Class will just plain leave—

To Mr. Forker, our apologies. We certainly make the life of an attendance officer-er-interesting.

To Mr. Crowther, our sympathy. We know how he hates to see us go.

To Dr. Traister, the artistic improvements we made on desks, stage props, floors, window frames, and seats. They add a certain something.

And finally, to everybody our parting admonition - - - "Chin up! Cheerio! Carry on!"

The Senior Class of 1943
X—(our mark)

"Sob! Sniff! Good-bye senior friends, Good-by - - - (and good riddance!?!)."

Bob Barnes; Who's Comin'?; Boom!!; Rosey and her pal; Sally smilin' for the camera; Three musketeers; Ed Bartola hits the ice; Bill Paxton; Bob Young and his famous camera; John Neel, Anne Augustine and the crowd; Ronald—first out; Hey, Junior!!; Home again; Signing up for a book; Bill, Ted, Louis, and John; Bill Campbell—center of attention; Funny, Jean?; Poise, grace, beauty—they ballet in the operetta.

KNOW a junior who is very friendly—rather bashful—rather small. He loves a good joke—and he is the fella who gives our thirsty Football squad its water. Now you won't have any trouble guessing—he takes a shine to the youngest of the three Williams' sisters—he's always something of a "queen" in our eyes. Right! Razor Cornelius.

ICE cream is Bill McNeish's greatest weakness (he can down three cones at a sitting). He's active in Lit club and Hi-Y and as for girls - - - well, he claims he is off them! That may be, but in the past, this popular soph has been seen with Janie Coulter, Jean Allen, and Patsy Lawrence.

DONIS Coutts is always smiling, always doing a favor for someone. She is a junior and has beautiful, big blue eyes—small and very cute. A good student, very friendly and is terribly clever. She likes people — especially everyone!

SWEET is the perfect adjective for Peggy Sweetapple. She is a freshie who is destined to go places — not only in social activities but in her studies because she is very industrious. She's a good worker in clubs and has a nice smile.

FRANCES Sopher is that sophomore with the very pretty auburn hair and with a friendly smile for everybody. She is a very valuable drum majorette and an active club member. She can always be seen with Marjorie Millsop.

RACHEL Hartwick likes to cook, which makes her almost unique — collects recipes, too. Looks a lot like her big sister Rhoda, and she too is a high honor student. Another hobby is collecting pictures from magazines (so she's always got notebook material on hand) and poems. A junior from room 11.

OH boy! What a trim little basketball player is pretty Dot Woods! She is treasurer of the Sr. Tri-Hi-Y - - - has the most intriguing black curls with plenty of common sense under them. She can act silly on occasion and is really a lot of fun.

MARSDEN is his name—a sophomore who is liked by all. He may be a little mischievous at times but we like 'em that way. He is known by his swell smile and the way he can really play his trumpet.

OK, swell, are just a couple of adjectives to describe Bob (Corny) Cornelius. He loves sport, especially football and basketball — he has pretty, black curly hair—and on his heart are carved two big initials — A. A.

USED to having Chuck around, is Molly Jean Husband, a dark-eyed little freshie who certainly stirred the boys up this year. It's more than a tricky hair-do, though—it's loads of pep and personality. In case you've never noticed, there's a slight resemblance to Sally Magee. Molly's hobby is collecting souvenirs.

REALLY a nice fellow—good looking, rather modest and shy. He promises to be an outstanding athlete, but that's not surprising when you remember that he's a Dickson with two brothers like Glenn and Ken. Lots of luck — Dick Dickson, freshman.

ROBERT Montgomery not only knows his doughnuts — just ask his teachers! A hard worker — he really deserves those good grades — and how he argues!

A STANDS for Art and also for the grades he gets in solid geometry — and other subjects. He's the quiet kid with the mastermind, who mixes those unmixable chemicals — but someone else will blow up the lab. If there's a girl in Art's life, he keeps it under cover— but some snooper suspects that Marilyn Baker — well?

NOBODY can see how Ginger Harvey gets to school on time — it's so-o-o-o hard to get up! But Ginger's got plenty of pep - - - she's a swell dancer - - - has lovely long eyelashes. She's a half-pint, but you know about good things and small packages!

KELLY—has anyone seen her? Curly hair, blue eyes, and a way of getting awfully excited and talking very fast. Page Harold Buxton, he'll find Lee if anybody will! Wait — where there's music, there's Lee with her glowing soprano voice; so go where the ensemble practices (she's the only freshman in the bunch) and there is where you'll find Kelly.

A IS an interesting letter—always makes you think of leaders — and that is just what Marilyn Arner is — she's a junior and a very nice girl — excellent in all her studies, and very friendly and individualistic.

NICE, popular, peppy, and cute — really a swell kid and pal — forever laughing and smiling — you all know who it is by now — Phyllis Filer (just ask anyone).

DAS in Dick and H as in Hummel — just put 'em together and you get the name of a popular freshman who is liked by all — a member of the Student Council— likes football and basketball — we'll bet he's a heart breaker before he's much older.

FROM morning 'till night, Chuck Meyers “eats, drinks, and sleeps newspaper” (which is strong stuff by cracky)—he's the editor, so you know whom to shoot now — but the Star couldn't have a better guy to do the job. Chuck's from room fourteen.

INTERESTING — that's June Weigle, who's a good student and a nice kid. She writes up the Star's features, and when off duty she collects salt and pepper shakers. Her favorite color is blue, but if you've ever noticed, she's got very pretty hazel eyes.

L IS a nice letter. This letter belongs to one Guy Labor, a popular senior, and also to his kid brother Bill. Ever notice the striking similarity? Bill is a sophomore, good natured, rather quiet and shy, but very friendly — keep up the Labor traditions, Bill!

ED Simons not only plays football — he sings — in fact he and Fithian are the “backbones of the basses” ask anyone (Frannie, for instance). Ed's in Hi-Y and was the villain in the operetta—remember? A good sport, and definitely a one-woman man. He has a dog named Buster.

Superlative Now

During their four years at Grove City High School, the seniors have left their impressions, like so many fingerprints, on the minds of teachers and students. Some have left even more indelible reminders on their desks - - but anyway, here are a few of the many "bests" and "mosts" of the class of 1943:

|-------------------------|-------------------|
| Sweetest | Jean Marshall |
| Prettiest Smile | Steve DeAugustine |
| Most Studious | Martha Ann Clark |
| Smoothest Line | Joe Dobie |

| Most Sincere | Tootie McBride |
| Littlest | Virginia Smith |
| Sunniest | Ruth Royle |
| Best Singer | Betty McCoy |
| Quietest | Roland Dye |
| Snappiest | Edna Spence |
| Best Student | Rhoda Hartwick |
| Shyest | Budd Drennen |

Meteorology

Sh-h-h! Hitler is listening! Enemy ears surround you! So keep it quiet, for this is the weather report for Camp G. C. H. S.!!

|----------------------|----------------|
| PHYSICS LAB | electric storm |
| ROOM 1 | forest fire |
| CHEMISTRY LAB | tornado |
| LOWER GYM | showers |
| LIBRARY | calm |
| AUDITORIUM | earthquake |
| PINE KNOT ROOM | lot of wind |
| BAND ROOM | thunder |
| ROOM 5 | hail |
| CORRIDORS | fresh breezes |

Predictions for the senior class: Fair and warmer, but very unsettled.

Superlative Then

After forty or more years have passed, our seniors are bound to make their marks in the world; they are certain to replace the great of today and to make tomorrow's world a more interesting, if not a better, place in which to live. So, here are some seniors and here, too, are those whom they will outstep. Just you wait and see!

SQUADRONS

Grove City High School's sport squadrons are her pride and joy. Every school in this district has heard of them, because of the excellent work of boys and coaches.

Sports are well supported by an enthusiastic student body. Football season, especially, is the time when the bleachers are packed with yelling kids, as, play by play, an exciting game is won.

The squads guard their plans as any other military secret is guarded. A bomb really explodes in the faces of the men on opposing teams who try to break through Grove City lines.

Sneaky Jap tricks are guaranteed to be overcome by those slippery wrestlers, while the track boys will try to outrun any opposing teams, Jap or otherwise. During the long dark winter nights, the auditorium was a blaze of lights as excited basketball teams dashed back and forth from basket to basket.

In gazing back at this Pine Knot years from now, you may not remember all the names, but you must surely remember those exciting games and those hard working boys who helped to make this year a success.

ATTACK! At 'em! It's either them or us. O.K., boys. Here we go—up to the front lines. We'll be the champs yet.

FOOTBALL TEAM of 1942

 SECOND ROW—S. DeAugustine, R. DeAugustine, Simons, Winger, Cicero, Hamilton, G. Labor, Harry, S. Puntureri, Mathieson.
 THIRD ROW—Spence, McCarthy, Wilkins, Knauff, Bell, Butiste, B. Labor, Spencer, Filer, Stone, F. Dunn Sopher, Dunn.
 FOURTH ROW—Caroll, Hummell, Cornelius, Palmer, Husband, R. McDougall, D. Amore, Smith, Young, Walters, Emery, Neel, H. McDougall, Buxton.

Season's Results

Getting off to a flying start in the 1942 football season, the Grove City Eagles handed Coach Bob Phlug's Bradford Owls an 18-0 defeat on the latter's field. Doubts had been established as to the quality of the Grover's green line, but the boys proved their ability to play a clean, rugged brand of football.

Encountering Oil City in the second fray of the season, the Forkermen carved out a 32-0 victory over the Oilers on the opponents' home grounds.

Grove City received a near defeat when they eked out a 2-0 decision over a highly touted Franklin eleven. The recovery of a blocked punt over the opponents goal gave the Grovers the two point margin, which they held until the final gun.

The Corry game was somewhat of a breather for the Eagles after their close encounter with Franklin. Nevertheless, Gene Forker's eleven accounted for 45 pointers to the Corry Beavers' 0, playing on the Beaver terrain.

The Greenville Trojans scored the only points against the Grovers in the annual Homecoming game at the local athletic field. The Penn Hi boys accounted for 7 points while the Grovers collected 13 markers.

Traveling to Titusville the following week, the Eagles acclaimed a 28-0 victory.

Coach Gene Forker's boys met Sharpsville on the following week-end to decide the champion of District 10. With the chips down, and being either do or die, the Grovers tallied 26 points to the Blue Devils none, to cop the crown.

Erie Tech was the last game of the season, and the Eagles defeated them to the tune of 25-0, to finish an undefeated, untied season.

Russell "Keno" Post, tackle on this year's undefeated eleven, was the first district boy to enlist in the armed forces under the new 18-19 year old draft law. Russ, 6-ft. 1-in., 175-lb. lad has been highly praised by the Varsity G and local sports authorities for his patriotic gesture.

District 10 Championship

Coach Gene Forker has again turned out another championship football team, which for the third consecutive season, has won the District 10A championship title. This victory entitled the Grovers to retain the football trophy permanently.

The Grove City Eagles, undefeated in six games this far in the season, faced the Sharpville Blue Devils for the championship title. Weather conditions, although very much on the poor side, did not halt the Grover precision machine from rolling up 26 points over the Blue Devils.

The "Four Horsemen," Guy Labor, Sam Puntureri, Steve DeAugustine, and Field General Bill Winger, playing in their last championship game in high school football, showed the quality which had earned them their title.

Coach Forker's boys bettered last year's record by scoring 189 points to the opponents 7, while last year's champs tallied 185 markers to the opposition's 13. Greenville was the only team to score upon the Eagles this season.

Homecoming Day

Old grads, townfolk, students, bands playing, people yelling and cheering, colors waving in the breeze—all these things bring to mind Homecoming Day.

Somewhat modified, due to war conditions, the annual occasion was, nevertheless, carried on with as much pep and enthusiasm as ever.

Norma Williams, Queen elect of Grove City High School, was crowned queen at the half of the game between Greenville and Grove City.

After receiving the crown, Miss Williams, together with her aides, Lois Snyder and Madeleine Coulter, retired to the opponents bench.

No dance was held after the game on account of priorities, but Coach Forker's eleven more than made up for it in their fine showing.

Girls' Sports

Whoever said, "Women are the weaker sex," was definitely off the beam in regard to the lassies of G. C. H. S. Although these young ladies exhibit culture and refinement on most occasions, they can also "dish it out," as we have been shown in their sports activities.

First Aid has been taught to all girls enrolled in gym classes, due to its importance today. But this is not all that they have learned.

Basketball, volleyball, ring tennis, and many other athletics, have extended to these of the fair sex: sportsmanship, independence, keenness of mind, and many other traits which serve to make a girl physically fit, mentally awake, and morally straight.

Room 14 won the inter-room basketball tournament held by Miss Cleeton, physical ed. instructor. All contestants played a hard, clean game.

And so, to that person who originated: "Women are the weaker sex," we prescribe H Cl C3, (germ exterminator to you).

Coach Bob Smiley's basketballers won 8 games and lost 11, to equal last year's record in number of games won and lost. A moral victory over last year's squad was recorded, however, in that two tougher teams, Sharon and Farrell, were added to this year's schedule.

This has been the most successful season for several years, and the sports department extends congratulations to Coach Smiley and his squad.

Junior Varsity

Although transportation facilities kept them from meeting other schools as in previous years, the Junior Varsity basketballers, coached by Eddie Traister and Art Dunmire of last year's Varsity squad, made a good showing for themselves.

They played Marines, Sailors, and independent teams and although height, weight, and skill were against them, these future Varsity players fought with the fury of Eaglets, and often came out on top.

District Match

Grove City High School's grapplers again outpointed all opposition in the District wrestling matches, held at Penn High School in Greenville this year. Farrell, Erie Academy, and Greenville collected 11, 6, 6 points respectively, while Coach Gene Forker's matmen tallied up 16 points.

Six Grovers fought their way into the finals, these being: Atwell, Hosack, Steve DeAugustine, Rudy DeAugustine, Red Mathieson, and Sam Puntureri. After the smoke of battle had cleared, Atwell, Steve DeAugustine, Red Mathieson, and Sam Puntureri emerged victorious.

Season's Results

Due to many schools having dropped wrestling, the schedule that the Grover Grapplers faced was a greatly modified one. Greenville was the only opponent booked on the Eagle card, and the Grovers emerged victorious from both encounters.

The first meeting ended in a 26-15 decision in favor of Grove City; and in second encounter, the score read 27-15, again favoring the Eagles. This made Gene Forker's grapplers undisputed county champs.

TRACK TEAM of 1942

MIDDLE ROW—S. DeAugustine, R. DeAugustine, McCann, Montgomery.
BACK ROW—Shawgo, Hamilton, D'Amore, Allen, Puntureri, Thompson.

Another county title in track was won by Grove City High School's track team as a result of their having defeated the only contender, Sharpsville, twice.

In their first meeting, the Grovers outpointed the opposition in practically all fields.

Going into the second contest against the Blue Devils, this time for county honors, the Eagles scored 77 points to Sharpsville's 32 markers.

Grove City has won county championships five years.

Individual winners in the county meet were: Sam Puntureri, first in the 100 and 220-yd. dashes, first in the broad jump, and tie for first in the pole vault.

Errington, second in 100 and 220-yd. dashes, second in the shot put.

Hamilton, first in the mile run, tie for first in the pole vault.

No representatives were sent to district meets this year. This is the first time for several seasons that no Grover tracksters have entered the district contests. Uncertainty in transportation was the underlying cause of this.

The Pleasant Relations

We have always enjoyed with our depositors are the result of honest effort and real interest in their progress.

Banking to us is more than just routine transactions. It is the opportunity for working with our depositors, for encouragement, for cooperation, for the human side of making life more worth the living.

OVER THE PHONE IN TEN YEARS

Hello, Adanis, I flunked my "Beginners Arithmetic" again, so it looks as though I'll be here another ten years! Not that I really mind now that they've cut those 50-minute periods to ten minutes each—one's education goes so much faster.

Anyway, that indoor swimming pool is a good place to dive into when study periods get dull; only one is likely to crack one's head on the window sill, isn't one? However the old court wasn't good for anything else. (The swimming pool was the suggestion of Prof. E. B. Elder, B.A., M.A., D. A. R., W. C. T. U.)

It was nice to have our basketball team taking the international championship for the ninth consecutive year. Also, one might mention the girls! Our ensemble is in Berlin at the present time singing for the eighth anniversary of the Free German Republic.

By the way, you should see our new chemistry lab—all the latest conveniences including the rare earth metals and six tons of radium in the vault behind Mr. Nutt's private quarters, to which only he has the key to the key to the lock to the lock that locks the six-foot steel door guarded by "Tillie", the ferocious bull-dog—(there will be a pause for a drink of

I think any of the 5,000 graduates of 1952 would be interested in the list of changes, which includes the public address system, marble stairs, escalators, air-buses, two-piece gym suits, a veranda for sun bathing, gongs which play the school song, padded seats and foot rests in auditorium, high vitamized midnight snacks served by Miss Lewis, matching toupee and goatee for Mr. Crowther (suggested by the boys' beautician classes), and a sound-proof music room where Miss Burgess and her "Swingeroos" get hep! And how!!

Oops, gotta catch that 11:27 rocket-ship to Pluto for our monthly science field trip. In case you decide to go to Saturn for your vacation, let me know, will you? Bye, now!

"And what," asked the chief of the Canibal Islands in his kindest tones, "was your business before you were captured by my men?"

"I was a newspaper woman," answered Fanny De Carlo.

"An editor?"

"No, merely an assistant editor."

"Cheer up, young woman, promotion awaits you. After dinner you shall be editor-in-chief."

Dick Filer: Is he related to you?

Ted Cicero: No, he's just my brother.

"I tell you I won't have this room," protested the woman who had just checked in at the Penn-Grove Hotel, to the bellboy who was conducting her. "I'm not going to pay my money for a measly little folding closet with a folding bed in it. If you think that just because I'm from the country I'll be satisfied with such a miserable little - - -."

"Get in, lady, get in," the boy interrupted wearily. "This isn't your room. This is the elevator."

"Well - er - yes," replied the dignitary, "but only if kindness fails."

Mr. Crowther: I've had charge of this prison for ten years. We're going to celebrate. What kind of a party do you kids suggest?

Student Council: Open house!

Dally Ryall: If I stood on my head, all the blood would flow to it, wouldn't it? Then when I'm standing on my feet, why doesn't the blood rush to them.

Billy Christie: Your feet aren't empty.

"Engaged to five girls at once!" exclaimed the horrified Mr. Al'en. "How do you explain such a situation?"

"I don't know," replied Bill, carelessly; "unless Cupid shot me with a machine gun."

Bill Oswald: Yep.

Boss: In that case why do you come in here looking for a job?

Bill: Why not? I lost it here, didn't I?

"ISALY'S ENDS THE QUEST FOR THE BEST"

"E" is said to be the most unfortunate letter in the alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, and never out of danger. All of which is true. Still, it is never in war, always in peace, and always in something to eat. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no life, no Heaven. It is the center of honesty and is always in love. It is the beginning of encouragement and endeavor, and the end of failure.

"What is an armature?" asked the foreman.

"It's a guy who sings for Major Bowes," replied Curtis, promptly.
